

Reptilian Gods in the Quran

COULD THE JINN FLY?

This is the fifth in a series that reports on the Quran's explanation of extraterrestrial gods' interaction with humans in the not too distant past.

The Egyptian neteru flew in celestial Boats. The Indian devas rode in Vimana flying machines. The Jewish Yahweh rode around in a kabod and a Shechinah. The Sumerian gods rode in ushulgals ("great fiery serpents"), Shems, Mumu, Naars, and Dingirs. They used their vehicles for transportation and for war. In many cases, "holy words," "divine words" and "magical words" are, when studied in the light of science, words used for technological devices that were too advanced for primitive humans to comprehend at the time. Fortunately, the superstitious fear held for such articles of the gods made people reluctant to translate them so they often came through many languages nearly intact.

One such word is "Naar." It is a Sumerian word that means "rocketship." It went from Sumerian to Akkadian and finally to Arabic where it usually means "fire." But, in the Quran, it is best understood in its original sense, i.e., rocket ship. Because rockets produce a fiery exhaust, Naar was confused with fire. But the astonishingly accurate Quran conveys its original meaning despite most translators' ideas that

ASSEMBLY OF ANUNNAKI (JINN)

Seven top Anunnaki formed the governing Assembly of the Anunnaki which the Quran calls the assembly of Jinn.

O assembly of Jinn and men, if you are able to pass through the regions of the asteroid belts and the earth, then pass through. You cannot possibly pass through except with authority.

-- Quran 55:33

On the day he gathers them all together: O assembly of Jinn, you took much from men. And their friends from among men will say, "Our Lord, some of us profited by others and we have reached our appointed term which you appointed for us. He said, "The Naar is your abode, immortalized therein except as Allah willed. Surely your Lord is wise, knower.

-- Quran 6:129

The Jinn (Anunaki) had a ruling assembly. In the last verse it is said that the Jinn took much from men as, an alternative translation is, "you took away a large number of people," and refers to both alien abductions and the act of human sacrifice conducted on behalf of flesh-eating reptilian Jinn.

But some people throughout time actually benefited by betraying humanity and doing the bidding of their alien masters. Today, many of it means fire.

When God questions Iblis about his refusal to bow down to Adam, Iblis replies:

I am better than he. You created me from a Naar And you created him from clay.

-- Quran 7:12

Being "created from a Naar" refers to some type of genetic manipulation performed to facilitate the long space flight from Nibiru to other planets like earth. Genetic operations aboard space crafts were apparently commonplace.

R.A. Boulay wrote in Flying Serpents and Dragons that "It was decided to create two goddesses in the 'creation chamber' of the gods, presumably in the orbiting ship."

Like the other ancient "gods," the Quranic Jinn were able to fly.

And we know that we cannot escape Allah in the earth, nor can we escape Him by flight.

-- Quran 72:12

And we [Jinn] sought to reach the asteroid belt, but we found it filled with strong guards and flames

-- Quran 72: 8

They [Shayateen] cannot listen to the exalted Chiefs and they are reproached from every side.

-- Quran 37:8

As the above verses indicated, the Jinn were able to fly all the way to the asteroid belt and, as we shall see, wage war with Allah and his angels.

the super rich fall into that category.

"The Lord" "gathers" (collects) them and awards some (at least that's the promise) with immortality and life aboard a Naar spaceship.

The less fortunate humans, however, are abducted, enslaved and wired up into an on-ship matrix where their biochemical-electrical body functions are used as fuel for the spaceship.

Then fear the Naar whose fuel is men and stones.

-- Quran 2:24

The "stones" refer to crystals analogous to Star Trek's fictional "dilithium crystals" used to power starships. Stones also refer to Me's, computer systems and flight information.

And thou shalt set apart unto the Lord all that openeth the matrix, and every firstling that cometh of a breast which thou hast, the males shall be the Lord's.

-- Exodus 13:12
